I'm Koffivi from Denver, CO. I started coding at a very early age because it was a curiosity of mine. I enjoy the process of problem solving and bringing new ideas into reality. In high school, I took part in my school's cyber security and robotics club. This really got me out of my comfort zone to try new things. I'm currently looking for a company that will challenge my skills. My goal as a developer is to help businesses grow.
